SUBMISSION RE:

INQUIRY INTO MEDALLIC RECOGNITION FOR SERVICE WITH RIFLE COMPANY BUTTERWORTH

Name: Peter Andrew Mullins
DOB: [REDACTED]
Address: [REDACTED]
Tour of Duty: 7 December 1982 – 8 February 1983
My Primary Role: Infantry Section Gunner (M60 machine gun)
Full Military Service: 28 March 1979 – 28 March 1988

Duties whilst on tour:

A member of a Quick Reaction Force (QRF) which was designated to counter penetration and counter attack, repel, kill or capture the enemy.

Pre-Deployment training:

- Section operational formations, cordon and contain objectives, search and or assault buildings.
- Legal requirements and Rules of Engagement
- Learn necessary commands in Malaysian (STOP OR I WILL SHOOT)
- Road Blocks – powers of search
- Enemy threat
- Medical Examination prior for deployment (DP1 Status)

Deployment

All soldiers deployed to Butterworth Malaysia during my Tour of Duty were briefed on our task and threat. We were left under no illusion that the deployment was an operation where the application of force would be required to pursue specific military outcomes. This use of force would range from a fully armed deterrent (through QRF) to lethal counter attack measures if required.

Further actions taken by QRF section/s was the armed clearing patrols every morning which covered the external perimeter of the base and the searching of Kampongs to ensure Communist Insurgents weren't establishing an attack base or conducting surveillance.

All soldiers deployed to Butterworth Malaysia received legal briefings in relation to our role and Rules of Engagement. As a result of the operational task, all soldiers were issued five ammunition for all section weapons and if required (following the Rules of Engagement) lethal Force was authorised.

I believe all soldiers were fully aware, that when you are issued live ammunition, receive authorisation for the use of lethal force, their expectations was that OWN casualties was a possibility.

Personal Note:

I took my role/task very seriously and have no doubt that the communist insurgence was a real threat at the time of my tour. Therefore, I also believe that my actions/ response duties whilst on QRF was real and met War Like Service at all times.

Training was conducted whilst rifle sections rotated through QRF. This training was conducted in line with our duties and to maintain a professional standard. The Butterworth Deployment was NOT for training experience.

I thank the Tribunal for the opportunity to submit a submission in regards to this matter.

Kindest Regards.

Peter Mullins
